

.geek.nz Submission

From: Gordon Findlay
Received: 31 March 2003

This will be brief! I can see no justification for the proposal.

1: The proposers mention .gen.nz several times but do not clarify why they regard that as an unsuitable place to place vanity domains. I believe that .gen.nz is a very suitable palce for vanity domains, and .co.nz for business domains run by geeks.

2: The concept 'geek' is nebulous, and self-appointment has not traditionally been a part of internet culture.

3: Portions of the proposal strike me as being quite self-serving, and self-aggrandisement. Perhaps it would be more credible if named "self-important-second-level-geek.nz"

Gordon Findlay